Meet Andrea, Contact Centre Advisor

We caught up with Andrea to learn more about her role and how she supports you.

What does a typical day look like for you?

Every day, I'm on the phone to residents trying to help them. Our team handles around 82,000 calls and 14,000 online queries every month. That's 96,000 conversations altogether!

How can you help residents, and what can they contact you for?

I'm here to listen to our residents and do everything I can to help them. Residents can contact us about anything related to their home or any other concerns.

What's the most rewarding part of your job?

It's great when I can make a difference and get positive feedback from residents about something I've helped them with.

Is there anything else you think would be helpful for residents to know?

Although we get thousands of calls each month, we know that every situation is unique, and we try our best to respond to your needs.

What do you enjoy most about working for Peabody?

I really value being part of a team where we can share our ideas and everyone's input is valued. I get the guidance and support I need to do my job as best I can.

Meet Dale, your Community Safety Manager

We caught up with Dale to find out more about his role and how his team can support you.

Tell us a bit about yourself

Before I joined Peabody I worked at a local council, working closely with neighbourhood teams and social services to reduce antisocial behaviour in the city.

What does a typical day look like for you?

Each day is different, I spend some days reviewing cases, updating notes and researching antisocial behaviour hotspots. Other days I can be out and about with our partners, knocking on doors and speaking to our residents.

What's the most rewarding part of what you do?

The most rewarding part of my job is seeing how my team helps residents who are impacted by antisocial behaviour.

What do you enjoy most about working for Peabody?

That's easy, the people I work with care so much about helping our residents.

What's important to you?

I believe it's important to do the right thing, first time round, so residents get the support they need as quickly as possible.

What's the most common question you're asked and what's the answer?

People often ask why I work in antisocial behaviour? And the simple answer is because I enjoy helping people! We know that having someone to talk to can make all the difference.

Flourishing gardens

We recently asked Asha about her experience volunteering at a local garden and how she got involved.

“I’m Asha, a resident and volunteer at Westcott Park Community Garden in Ealing.

A few days a week, come rain or shine, you’ll find me in our community garden, with my hands in the soil and a proud smile on my face.

However, my journey as a volunteer isn’t one that began overnight. It all started more than ten years ago when I received an unexpected knock at the door from a Peabody colleague in the Communities team. We chatted about our love for Ealing and because they knew about my role as Community Treasurer, they asked me what I thought the residents needed and how Peabody could help develop the community.

I told them my hopes of having a community garden, a place where children and adults in the area could learn new skills, plant fresh produce and care for livestock.

Truthfully, I was sceptical at first, I wasn’t sure we’d be able to get the garden going. We decided to find out if other residents in the area thought this was a good idea, which they did! Little did I know this conversation would grow into such a profound and rewarding experience, one that would result in the creation of our community garden.

We set up the garden in 2011. With natural green fingers, I quickly took on a big role in the garden. Over the years, residents and I have done everything from planting flowers and tending to vegetable beds, to extracting honey from our beehive and caring for our chickens and ducks. We have also helped many residents get into gardening through our guided workshops and developed the communities understanding on ways to be more environmental. The garden is more than just a place to grow plants, it’s a hub of social connection, where everyone feels valued and appreciated.

Volunteering at the garden has taught me a lot. But the thing that stands out is the strength of community relationships that the garden has built and the wonderful impact our work has on the wellbeing of our wildlife, the bees we keep are my favourite!”

How we're doing: Tenant Satisfaction Measures

We're committed to providing quality homes and services that put you, our residents, at the heart of everything we do. Our Tenant Satisfaction Measures (TSMs) results help us understand what we're doing well and where we need to improve.

satisfied overall

satisfied with repairs

satisfied with home maintenance satisfied with complaints handling feel your voice is heard

feel we make a positive impact in your neighbourhood

What do our results tell us?

Results show we have work to do, but we're heading in the right direction. We're listening and are committed to investing in your homes and taking action to create better, more local services.

What we're doing to improve

Taking care of your home

This year we completed over 250,000 repairs, but we need to do better. We're spending £1 million every day on improving and maintaining your homes.

Keeping you safe

Last year, we spent £64 million to improve the fire safety of our buildings. We listened to 500 residents in 12 high-rise buildings to shape the way we engage you in the safety of your buildings.

Listening and acting on your feedback

We've worked with over 5,000 residents to find out what really matters to you.

Managing complaints effectively

We're aiming to respond to 80% of complaints within 10 days by next year.

Better neighbourhood management

We're working with residents to create local plans, and with the police and local authorities to address issues you've told us about.

Get your voice heard

As a Peabody resident, you should have a real say in the services you receive.

Resident-led panel

Last year a diverse group of independently recruited residents helped redesign how we work with you. Their message was clear: your voice needs to be heard at all levels.

Based on their recommendations, we've formed a new resident-led panel who will help ensure residents' voices are heard at every level of Peabody. They'll make sure we're truly listening and making improvements you want to see.

How you can get involved

- Join a group to scrutinise and improve our services
- Give feedback through local events, surveys and focus groups
- Influence local decisions
- Help celebrate diversity and different perspectives

Name the resident-led panel competition!

Suggest your idea for the name of the panel to get.involved@peabody.org.uk by Friday 16 August. If your name makes the shortlist, you'll receive a £10 shopping voucher.

Have your say with our Sounding Board

Your experiences matter to us. We want to hear your views so we can improve our services and make them work better for you.

The Sounding Board is about opening lines of communication between you and Peabody.

Our recent Sounding Board took place in Lambeth, South London in June.

What gets discussed?

Ian McDermott, our CEO, and other colleagues meet with residents to talk about the issues that are important to you, including:

- Social housing
- Sustainability and the environment
- Our local services
- Your communication preferences

Your honest perspectives help shape how we can better serve residents and communities.

The new Sounding Board format

After a successful first round, we're kicking off new-look Sounding Board visits over the next few months. Here's what's new:

- Instead of group meetings, Ian will meet one-to-one with residents
- Board and committee members may join certain visits

In April, Ian met the new Sounding Board residents to start building connections. They talked about their experience with us, including the importance of excellent customer service, better communication about repairs and ways we can support local neighbourhoods.

Get involved

If you'd like to join an upcoming Sounding Board, please email get.involved@peabody.org.uk

We're making changes based on what you've told us

At our recent neighbourhood events you gave feedback about our local teams and services. Here's what we've done.

What you told us:

- Reporting issues can be frustrating - there can be long wait times on calls and few updates on your issue
- We need to keep appointments and follow up with you after repair work
- You want to know who your local contacts are and when they'll be in your area
- Issues like antisocial behaviour, fly-tipping and dangerous driving can be a problem
- You want easier ways to provide feedback

So, we've:

- Reviewed contractor performance to support repairs
- Expanded our Complaints team so we can resolve more cases
- Increased the number of calls we can answer
- Launched My Peabody - a quick and easy way to report and track repairs, update your details and view statements online
- Given our teams new technology to report and track issues while out on estates
- Held local surgeries for you to meet your Neighbourhood Manager face-to-face
- Followed up individually on the antisocial behaviour concerns you raised
- Neighbourhood Managers and colleagues on estates are doing walkabouts

What happens next?

We're planning more events later this year for you to have your say.

Your new Consumer Standards for social housing

The government has introduced new Consumer Standards for social housing providers. These are standards which aim to ensure you have a safe, secure and well-maintained home, with clear communication and good service from your landlord.

What does this mean for you and your home?

Safety and quality: We're investing in our homes to meet high safety and quality standards. We work with partners to tackle antisocial behaviour and provide local support. Over the next five years, we'll spend £2 billion on maintaining and improving our homes.

Transparency, influence and accountability: We provide opportunities for you to influence decisions through resident panels and engagement platforms.

Neighbourhood and community: We're dedicated to building strong and supportive communities.

Support: Our Advice and Wellbeing team can help you find support.

We're committed to improving in line with the standards, by prioritising your homes and safety, treating you with fairness and respect, delivering better services and fostering supportive communities.

We'll keep you updated on our progress.

Flags flying and fish and chip lunch for St George's Day in Milton Keynes

Residents, friends and colleagues at retirement village The Mount in Simpson, on the outskirts of Milton Keynes in Buckinghamshire, celebrated St George's Day with a fish and chip shop lunch.

Everyone donned red and white outfits, as well as some fantastic fun hats and glasses, to mark the day!

Residents and colleagues sat down to enjoy lunch from a local chip shop in the community room that they'd decorated with flags. The atmosphere was buzzing with the sounds of 'pass the salt and vinegar'! Residents are also planning a mini-Olympics day - watch this space!

Birthday card from the King for Phyliss' 100th!

Mrs Phyliss Bishop, one of the resident homeowners at retirement complex The Hollies in Beaconsfield, Buckinghamshire, celebrated her 100th birthday with friends, family and neighbours.

A special cake and coffee morning in the gardens at The Hollies and a card from King Charles were some of the highlights of Phyliss' day.

Phyliss told Scheme Manager, Andrew Anderson, that she was most excited about getting her card from the King, which she said she is so proud of. She never thought she'd make it to this milestone in her life.

Happy birthday and congratulations Phyliss from us all!

Dee Space for creativity, feedback and fun

At Dee Space Community Centre in Reading, residents have been combining feedback, fun and creativity.

Alongside the monthly housing surgeries where residents can speak with our teams, residents have been enjoying pottery making, drawing and painting with local artist Lisa Marie.

Lisa has also set up a weekly 'Creative Kitchen' arts programme for children at Dee Space. She works with a local business so that those that come along can enjoy a free meal too.

Nature Nurture CIC also ran a 'Tree of Ideas' drop-in to see what activities residents would like to see in the coming months. The Nature Nurture team is running indoor and outdoor activities every second Saturday until 12 October.

Dee Space housing surgeries take place on the last Wednesday of the month 11am-1pm. They're open to all and there's no need to book.

Celebrating

To celebrate diversity, we've launched a new series of events

Eid

The events are open to all our residents and are an opportunity to celebrate together, and find out more about how you can get involved at Peabody.

A few months ago, we hosted our first Eid celebration event. We welcomed residents, colleagues and partners for an Eid meal, activities, childrens games and to connect with others.

It was an opportunity for everyone to learn about how they can contribute to Peabody's mission of equality, diversity and inclusion.

Residents also discovered how they could raise repairs, apply for funding and different ways they can get involved with, and work with Peabody. Everyone that attended also signed up to Peabody Voice (our panel of residents who work with us on key projects).

At the event, we got to hear from residents about how they've been involved in shaping community projects. We also discussed the importance of having a diverse group of people involved, so we can hear everyone's voice.

Keep an eye out for more events this year, including a Black History Month celebration in October, Diwali celebration in November and Hanukkah and Christmas celebrations in December.

We'd love to hear your ideas for future events

Keeping cool

Getting ready for summer? It's important to stay safe and cool in warm weather. So, here's our top tips for when it gets too hot.

Keep yourself cool

Take cover

Avoid the heat by staying inside or stay in the shade during the hottest part of the day, from 11am-3pm.

Chill out

Enjoy cool and refreshing drinks and food such as ice lollies, salads and fruits.

Cool down

Take a cool shower or spray cool water on your skin or clothes.

Stay hydrated

Drink plenty of water throughout the day to stay hydrated.

Check on others

Look out for vulnerable neighbours. If you're concerned seek medical advice. Dial 999 in emergencies or for suspected heatstroke.

Keep your house cool

Minimise heat

Avoid using heat generating household appliances where possible, such as a clothes dryer or dishwasher.

Keep cool indoors

During the day, keep windows closed to block out heat. Open them early in the morning for cooler air.

Draw the curtains

Keep blinds and curtains closed during the hottest part of the day.

Find the cool spot

Stay in the coolest room in your home if you need to be indoors.

Use fans

If it's under 35°C, electric fans can help. Place fans near windows to bring in cooler air from outside during the evening and early morning, when it's cooler.

I'm having issues with my neighbour, can you help me?

In the first instance you should try speaking to the person you believe is behaving unacceptably.

Why have you asked me to remove my door mat and buggy from the hallway outside my flat?

We ask residents to remove items from communal areas as they could be a trip hazard and block escape routes in the event of a fire. Please help us keep you and your neighbours safe by removing any personal items from corridors, walkways, and stairwells. This includes doormats, buggies, furniture and mobility scooters. You can store and recharge mobility scooters in areas dedicated for this.

Keeping you safe

Front doors play an important role in stopping fire and smoke from spreading.

Our contractors will be in touch soon to let you know when we're visiting you.

We'll need access to your home for these essential safety checks, so please do give us access and arrange for someone to be there to let the surveyor check your door. When the surveyor arrives, they'll spend a few minutes looking at your door.
